Without question, the most famous spy in the world is British special agent James Bond, code-named 007. Since 1963, Bond has entered our homes and lodged in our minds through the famous series of Bond movies shown worldwide. Recently, however, his movies have been under attack from women’s rights organizations. Critics are unhappy with the way women have been portrayed in the movies: always beautiful and naïve, never smart or capable. Actresses are always given brainless roles: women left to wait helplessly for the hero to come and rescue them. Moreover, feminists disapprove of the romantic relationships between James and every beautiful woman he meets, claiming that he is setting a bad example for men throughout the world with his inability to commit to a long-term relationship.

Such criticism has forced Bond moviemakers to make changes. While watching the latest Bond movie, compare it with the earlier films and see how 007 has changed throughout the years. Even the world’s most famous spy needs to change with the times.

Alice Walker makes her living by writing, and her poems, short stories and novels have won many awards and fellowships for her. She was born in Eatonton, Georgia. She went to public schools there, and then to Spelman College in Atlanta before coming to New York to attend Sarah Lawrence College, from which she graduated in 1966. For a time she lived in Jackson, Mississippi with her lawyer husband and small daughter. About Langston Hughes, American Poet, her first book for children, she says, “After my first meeting with Langston Hughes I vowed I would write a book about him for children someday. Why? Because I, at twenty-two, knew next to nothing of his work, and he didn’t scold me; he just gave me a stack of his books. And he was kind to me; I will always be grateful that in his absolute warmth and generosity he fulfilled my deepest dream (and need) of what a poet should be.

“To me he is not dead at all. Hardly a day goes by that I don’t think of him or speak of him. Once, just before he died, when he was sick with the flu, I took him a sack full of oranges. The joy I felt in giving that simple gift is undiminished by time. He said he liked oranges, too.”
